STANFORD, LINCOLN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1911.

EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY.

ONE OF LINCOLN'S FAIREST DAUGHTERS

JOINED IN WEDLOCK'S BONDS TO MT. STERLING YOUNG MAN—THE WOODS—PERSON WEDDING.

Before hundreds of those who have known her from childhood, and knowing her, have loved her dearly Miss Sallie Taylor Woods, became the bride of Grover C. Anderson, of Mt. Sterling, Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. The ceremony, a beautiful one, in every detail, was performed in the Baptist church by Rev. J. E. Jones, the pastor. Immediately after the words were pronounced which joined these young lives they took an automobile for Danville where they boarded a Southern train for an eastern trip after which they will go to Mt. Sterling to make their home.

Few brides as fair have ever gone from the borders of dear old Lincoln, famed for the beauty of her women and the gallantry of her men. And no more beautiful nuptial setting could be pictured than was the Baptist church as the wedding procession moved stately down the aisles to the altar where the mystic words were said. Loving hands had made the House of God a home of love and beauty for the happy occasion. The altar was a perfect mass of green, potted plants, ferns and smilax being cleverly interwoven to form an attractive background. Overhead, stretched across the length of the church was arch of smilax dotted with pink roses. The altar and chancel gleamed with the light of many candles, in pink and white held by handsome silver and crystal candelabra. The house had been darkened and the subdued glow from electric bulbs overhead lent a soft radiance to the scene which further enhanced its beauty.

The church was crowded with friends and loved ones when the hour approached. Just before the wedding party came in, Mrs. W. C. Shank, sang softly and tenderly the "Garden of Roses" accompanied on the organ by Miss Sue Taylor Engleman. Then to the gladsome wedding chorus from Lohengrin the wedding procession began. First came the ribbon bearers, sweetly dressed in white, all nieces and nephews of the bride. Pearl and Robert Embry and Margaret and Julian Allen. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Tipton and Harry Howell, of Mt. Sterling, and R. B. Woods and R. W. Milburn, of this city, followed, in pairs, down each aisle. Miss Susan Fisher Woods, sister of the bride, maid of honor and her only attendant then came next.

Miss Woods was beautiful in an exquisite gown of yellow embroidered chiffon with pearl trimmings, and carried pink roses. After her came the flower girls in pink and white. Mary Louise Woods and Elizabeth Bush Allen, also nieces of the bride, who scattered sweet peas along the canvased aisle as the bride, stately and lovely in her wedding attire, came in last, alone. The bride's gown was an elegant creation, being white embroidered chiffon over white satin, cut en train and with pearl trimmings. She carried a white satin bouquet. Behind her followed the conventional bridal veil.

The groom, with his best man, Mr. G. B. Seiff, met the bride at the altar where the man of God said the words which made these twin one. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. Miss Engleman played softly "Call Me Thine Own," during the ceremony. The pair stood under a large bell of pink roses which swung from the arch overhead as the ceremony was said and then departed from the church to the strains of the wedding march by Mendelssohn. An automobile was waiting and, after changing to traveling costume, they hid away on their honeymoon, amidst the congratulations and good wishes of everyone.

Hundreds of beautiful and useful presents testified to the popularity of the young couple. Probably no sweeter or more popular girl ever went out of Stanford as a bride than this one, who left her home and loved ones yesterday to cleave unto the man of her choice. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Woods and was born and reared at their home a few miles in the country on the Knob Lick pike. A girl of the sweetest disposition, beautiful in face and figure and with the strength of character which tells the true woman she will prove a worthy helpmeet to him who has won her. Mr. Anderson, while not well known in Stanford, stands high in business and social life at his home in Mt. Sterling and is said to be well worthy of the prize he has won. He made many friends during his short stay in Stanford and with his bride has the best wishes of every one for a perfect married life.

Two delightful dinner parties were given for the bride party before the wedding. Mrs. William H. Shanks, entertained the bride-to-be and the members of the bridal party who were here on Monday evening at her handsome residence on Logan avenue. The dinner was exquisite, served in seven courses, the table and dining room being beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Ice and cream meringue were served and the occasion was made a most happy one for all. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Shanks there were present, the bride-to-be and Miss Susan Fisher Woods, Miss Sue Taylor Engleman, Mrs. S. M. Allen, of Millersburg, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, of Frankfort, Miss Jean and Margaret Mount, of Lancaster, and Messrs. R. B. Woods and R. W. Milburn.

On Wednesday, the wedding eve,

Mrs. Sam J. Embry, Jr., entertained the bridal party before rehearsal at her home on the Lancaster pike, with a five-course dinner. The beautiful decorations were in yellow and white and the refreshments bore out the color scheme. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Embry, present were Miss Sallie Taylor Woods, Miss Susan Fisher Woods, Miss Sue Taylor Engleman, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Mrs. J. M. Alverson, Mrs. Carroll Shanks, Mrs. S. M. Allen, Messrs. Grover C. Anderson, Harry Howell, Gamble Seiff, Will Tipton, R. B. Woods, R. W. Milburn and Rev. J. E. Jones.

Prof. Grubbs

ELECTED PRINCIPAL OF LIBERTY HIGH SCHOOL.

News has been received here that Prof. E. L. Grubbs, who has had charge of the school at Moreland for several terms, has been elected principal of the Graded and High School at Liberty. Prof. Grubbs and his family will move to Liberty about the first of August. Miss Martha Tifford, of Liberty, will be his assistant and primary teacher. Prof. Grubbs is one of the best known educators in this section of the State and the patrons and trustees of the Liberty school are to be congratulated upon securing his services.

CRAB ORCHARD

The teachers of the Sunday School of the Christian church, accompanied by Brother Donahoe had a pleasant outing with their classes Wednesday.

Mrs. H. D. Campbell and children have returned home after a few days visit to E. F. Cummings, in Stanford. Mrs. Dr. Spitzer and her mother, Mrs. Culton, spent a few days last week with A. Y. Culton, in Louisville.

Joe Anderson has gone to Louisville to accept a position.

Mrs. H. L. Steger has returned to Crab Orchard after some months visit to her brother, Mr. Morris Harris and family, in Louisville.

The Christian Endeavor meets at the Christian Church every first and third Sunday nights. And the Baptist Young People's Union, meets at the Baptist Church every second and fourth Sunday nights. The organizations are doing good work among our young people.

Bennie Duke had a delightful visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thompson last week.

FARES REDUCED

Q. & C. Route Places Parlor Car Fares Between Danville and Cincinnati At 25 Cents.

Parlor car fares on Queen & Crescent trains between Danville and Cincinnati have been reduced from 60 to 25 cents for each way. The round trip parlor car fare is now fifty cents, whereas it was formerly $120. The rate from Danville to Lexington is 20 cents each way. Trains between Danville and Cincinnati are now equipped with modern observation parlor cars. It is worth many times the price just now to pass over the High Bridge and get a perfect view of the monster new structure that has been reared over the old one. The parlor car rates named for the Blue Grass are much appreciated being less than half cost of Pullman fares, although the parlor car is decidedly the most comfortable and delightful coach on any of the superb trains operated by the Queen & Crescent. With the reduced rate effective it is predicted that many of the trains will often have to carry two parlor cars between Danville and Cincinnati in order to accommodate the extra traffic that will be attracted by the nominal charge.

BLUE LICK.

Rev. P. B. Hackett preached at Coffey School house last week.

Mr. Major Tombs and daughter of South Fork, visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edna Daugherty.

Mr. Worth McWhorter and wife, visited his sister, Eliza Daugherty. Eliza Daugherty seems to be improving some.

Mr. James Benson is the guest of his sister, Eliza Daugherty.

Mrs. Eliza Hasty visited her daughter Mrs. John Green, of Highland last Saturday and Sunday.

The writer has been on the sick list for several days.

Miss Mary G. Daugherty visited her sister, Mrs. Nora Berry last Sunday.

The Ladies of the Baptist Church, will have a strawberry and ice cream supper in the church yard, Saturday night. Everybody invited. 15 cents a plate.

Teacher Marries

SO SCHOOL BOARD FILLS VACANCY IN THE FACULTY.

Miss Martha Hommel, of Danville, was last week elected by the School Board to teach the Sixth grade in the Stanford school for the next term. She comes very highly recommended. News has been received by the Board that Miss May Broadbush, who was engaged as teacher in the school for the next term, has been married to Dr. Jones S. Gilbert, the wedding having taken place in Lexington last week. Miss Broadbush, or Mrs. Gilbert now, was from Buckeye, and it is not expected that she will report for duty here now that she has taken charge of a school with but one pupil.

McKINNEY

Will and Walter Murphy visited Miss Bertha Hines at South Manchester last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Ellis Johnson the popular salesman for Louisville Tin & Stove Co., was shaking hands with friends here Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Tanner, will leave Monday for Georgetown, where she will attend the commencement of the Georgetown College there.

Miss Prudence Sayers, of Covington, Ky., will return with Miss Tanner and be her guest for several days.

Mrs. E. O. Gooch and Miss Alice Gooch were in Stanford shopping the first of the week.

The ladies of the Christian church will serve ice and cakes in Mrs. R. H. Metcalf's lawn on Saturday afternoon from 3 p. m. until 9 p. m. The McKinney band will furnish the music and a good time in general is expected.

Every one is most cordially invited to come and help a good cause, the proceeds to go for the benefit of the church.

Professor L. O. Phelps and wife, of Jamestown, were the guests of E. O. Gooch and wife last week.

Mrs. D. S. Riffe is visiting her son and family at Ludlow, Ky., this week. McKinney is still on the map and doing business at the same old stand but things are rather quiet at present.

Mr. F. M. Ware and Mr. E. J. Tanner went to Louisville today, as Mr. Ware is to get his new E. M. F. 30 Automobile and expects to drive it home Thursday.

Miss Annie Sigworth, former stenographer at the Columbia Singletree Co., left today to accept a similar position with The Cumberland Grocery Co., at Somerset.

The McKinney Corner Band furnished the music for the opening of the Golden Dawn Springs at Yosemite Thursday afternoon and night in place of Liberty band as had been advertised. The band is ready at any time, to furnish music for all occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Coffey, entertained at their beautiful home Tuesday night in honor of their son Arthur's birthday. After a sumptuous supper, served in most charming manner by the hostess, Mrs. Coffey, the guests were entertained with several piano and cornet duets and solos by Miss Lizzie Hubble and Mr. Harry Jacobs. Following that were a number of interesting games and at a late hour the guests departed wishing Mr. Arthur Coffey many happy returns of the day. The following guests were present: Miss Bertha Rhodon, of Somerset, Miss Alice Gooch, Anna Hubble, Lena Beck, Ruth Cocking, Eugenia Hubble, Mr. Walter Murphy, G. T. Gooch, Mack Mobley, James Cannon, Herman Gann, Frank Mobley, Harry Carter, Will Beck, Harry Jacobs, Arthur and Willie Coffey.

The Literary Society will meet Saturday night at the regular hour and place.

C. C. GOOCH BUYS ST. ASAPH HOTEL

J. W. ACEY SELLS OUT TO WELL-KNOWN MAN AFTER LESS THAN A YEAR AS "MINE HOST."

J. W. Acey this week disposed of the St. Asaph Hotel to C. C. Gooch, of this city, who will take possession the 1st of July and continue to run it on the same high plane upon which Mr. Acey has conducted it during his ownership. It has been less than a year since Mr. Acey bought the hotel from Mrs. Beale Hardin. Since then he has spent several thousand dollars in installing new furnishings until he has one of the best equipped hostleries for this size town in the state. Mr. Acey was anxious to devote to some more active business, however, so decided to get out of the hotel.

Mr. Gooch recently moved to Stanford from the Wayneburg section. He is experienced business man and will undoubtedly make a success in the hotel business.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles, of which and they have done me a world of good."

JUNCTION CITY

Miss Lucy Hanks, daughter of Postmaster J. H. Hanks, has returned from a visit to her cousins, Misses Lula May and Margaret Hayes, in Mitchellburg, and Miss Bessie Harberson, near Perryville.

The entertainment given at the Christian church Wednesday evening to collect funds for foreign mission, netted the promoters about $15.00.

Miss Annie Cosby, is at Parksville, working in the postoffice in the place of Alvin Westerfield, who is taking a vacation.

Miss Willie Benton Logsdon, left Thursday for a visit to her friends, Misses Edna and Sue Shelby Mason, in Lancaster.

Miss Lella Dungan, of Science Hill, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Bailey, has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. West returned Monday from Russell Springs. On their way home they stopped awhile in Liberty, where Mr. West picked up a silver dollar 93 years of age.

Miss Martha Cox, who has been teaching at Cynthiana, is at home with her parents, Squire and Mrs. M. Cox.

Mrs. Jesse Riffe and Miss McKee Riffe, of Hustonville, who are guests of Mrs. J. F. Rounton, have returned to their home.

Rev. W. O. Sadler, Conference Evangelist of the Methodist church, will begin a protracted meeting in that church here Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards Grubbs and children will move from this place to Liberty about August 1st, where the former has secured the principalship of the Liberty High School.

Mr. Alexander Tribble has recently returned from Peyton's Well, much improved in health.

Miss Katherine Lickford, of Greendale, Miss., is visiting her school chum, Miss Lavinia McGraw.

Miss Anna Overstreet, of Parksville, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Steele, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Yates, a missionary from New Albany, will commence a camp meeting in the woods just west of the railroad station, June 10.

Miss Lizzie Phillips, of Liberty, and Miss Kathryn Warriner, of Lexington, who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Phillips, have returned to their home.

Mrs. William Caskey, who has been ill at her mother's, Mrs. Mary Frances Wells', has returned to her home in Corbin.

Mr. John T. Moore, local photographer, is at High Bridge, catching the unwary.

Despite all predictions to the contrary, the oil well continues to produce kerosene, upon an application to the pump. The oil now coming from the well is darker in color, being about the shade of a "yaller" pup.

Mr. William R. Caskey, of Corbin, visited his wife at this place on Sunday.

ECZEMA CURE A BEAUTY WASH.

Although D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for years as the one remedy for Eczema, Psoriasis, and all other forms of skin diseases, it is now known that there is no other wash, even those used by the beauty specialists, that can compare with this mild liquid for cleansing the skin of pimples, blackheads, rash and all similar skin affections.

For this reason alone a bottle of D. D. D. should be kept on hand in every household. A trial 25 cents bottle will show you the merits of this great remedy as a complexion wash. D. D. D. seems to remove the cause, whatever the trouble may be, cleansing the skin, and leaving it as soft, as smooth and clear as that of a healthy child.

Get a 25 cent bottle today and keep it in the house. Shugars and Tanner, Stanford, Ky.

Stanford Wins

The good news was received from Springfield Wednesday night that in first base game at the Blue Grass High School tournament now on, Stanford had defeated Bardonia by a score of 10 to 3. Wesley Embry, pitching for Stanford, held the Nelson county boys to one hit. This is regarded as very fine work and is believed to be indicative of the ease with which the Stanford entries in the tournament will walk off with things in the other events. Springfield and Lawrenceburg were to play Thursday and Stanford play the winner for final championship on Friday.

Outsiders

WATCHING THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.

James Suffers in Comparison with Paynter a Big Newspaperman Views the Two Candidates.

Frankfort, Ky., June 8.—The big newspapers of the country are watching with a good deal of interest the fight being waged in Kentucky between United States Senator, Thomas H. Paynter and Congressman O'Hara James for the seat in the Senate now capably occupied by the first named, and their comment on the methods of Mr. James in his campaign should be of interest to the Democratic voters as giving them an insight into what the people of other states think of the man and the character of contest he is waging as well as giving their opinions of Paynter as a statesman and member of the Senate.

In a recent comment, Leslie's Weekly said of James:—"It is too bad that we have so many of the O'Hara James type in our legislative bodies—who think there is nothing in the world for a public man to do but to seek to gain political advantage, to capture votes and to attract attention."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean, discussing the Lorimer case, says:—"That Senator Paynter should appeal to his colleagues to act as judges, considering the law and facts only, and disregarding alike the clamors of faction and the menaces of power, is entirely natural when we remember the life and character of the man."

A Washington dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer at the time the "long and short haul" railroad proposition was before the United States Senate, a year ago, read:—"Senator Aldrich was completely routed upon the long and short haul proposition in the open Senate this afternoon. By a vote of 57 to 10 the Payne amendment, declaring it unlawful for a railroad to charge more for a short than for a longer haul was adopted." This is the same Mr. Aldrich with whom Congressman James would have Kentucky Democrats believe Senator Paynter is in league.

Another Washington dispatch, this time to the Louisville Courier-Journal relative to the Employers' Liability Amendment, introduced by Senator Paynter, which provides that no case arising under this act and brought in any state court of competent jurisdiction shall be moved to any court of the United States, says:—"The adoption of this amendment is regarded as of great importance, because it is a step toward restoring to the states the rights and control of matters which have been claimed by the Democrats to be the rights of the states under the Constitution. Heretofore efforts to modify Federal laws so as to give state courts jurisdiction of matters arising under acts of Congress and to change the law as to removal of actions from State to Federal court have been ineffectual."

On Senator Paynter's work in securing this amendment, Senator Haig, long a leader in the upper branch of Congress, said:—"This is a noteworthy advance in the direction of maintaining the constantly dwindling force of State jurisdiction and State control. I congratulate the Senate upon having taken the first step in the right direction."

John Callan O'Laughlin, one of the brightest and best known newspaper men at the National Capitol, recently reviewed Senator Paynter's brief career in the Senate. At one point he wrote:

"When Paynter arrived in Washington he quickly made himself felt in the Senate Chamber and was given an honor extended to few new Senators, being placed upon the important Judiciary Committee. The Senator has been active in connection with the tariff and railroad rate, the postal savings and the Federal Incorporation bill. He strongly advocated lower duties on all materials used by the press, insisting it was important to the Nation that independent newspapers should flourish. He also has shown marked knowledge of international law as well as ordinary law. In short, he is regarded as a valuable addition to the United States Senate."

The foregoing gives in brief fashion the opinion from outside Kentucky of Senator Paynter's worth as a member of the Federal Senate from Kentucky showing that, from the first he has taken front rank among the leaders or thought in the Nation, and is today in position where he can accomplish much, if retained in his position, not only of benefit to the State and Nation but also to the lustre of Kentucky, which has furnished many of the country's greatest statesmen.

RAIL ROAD CONVENTION HERE MONDAY

LINCOLN COUNTY SOLIDLY AGAINST KLAIR, AND MAY GO FOR KEENON.

Chairman George L. Penny has received official notification from J. Norton Fitch, chairman of this railroad district, to call a mass convention of the democrats of Lincoln county at the court house next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the purpose of selecting 10 delegates to attend the Second District Railroad Convention which will be held in Louisville, June 14, to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

Little interest seems to be taken in this race in Lincoln county but every democrat who has been heard to express himself, has done so as against the nomination of Billy Klair, of Lexington, who is a candidate for the nomination. Klair is chiefly notorious for having bolted the nomination of former Governor Beckham, for United States Senator while he, Klair was a member of the Legislature from Lexington. Klair is also notorious by reason of the close friendship he always showed for the railroads, and other big corporations while in the legislature and these who know him and his record believe that his nomination would be about the worst thing that could happen to the democrats in this district right now.

There are two candidates for Commissioner from the Eighth Congressional district, E. B. Beard, of Shelbyville and Rodman Keenon, of Harrodsburg.

In view of the fact that the delegates to the convention will have to pay their own railroad fare and hotel expenses while in Louisville, it is not anticipated that there will be much of a rush to get on the delegation from Lincoln.

Old Negro "Mammy"

IS PAID A TOUCHING TRIBUTE BY BOBBITT.

Crab Orchard, June 7th. On last Sabbath day, a funeral was preached over the remains of an old colored Christian that deserves special mention. Born away back in 1835 when time was young and before the follies and corruption of the present fast age and health destroying mania of living, Aunt Julia was the most exemplary member of her race. Honest, truthful, faithful and true to every trust as a wife, a noble woman and servant of the proud Caucasian race, whom she gladly and faithfully served. Aunt Julia was the noblest, humblest and grandest of her race. Belonging to the grand old Buford family, she often was hired out and faithfully served those to whom she did not belong and this fact was the cause of my first acquaintance with this good old Christian. She was the faithful wife of good old Uncle Ne's Buford, who was a noble type of the antebellum race. Aunt Julia your life and moral worth mingled the tears of the proud Caucasian with the tears of those who were from the dark Continent. When freedom came its soft, mild dew fell unthought upon this noble woman, Aunt Julia you have entered into your rest, where many with more favorable opportunities will fall to go.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Circuit Judge,
HON. CHARLES A. HARDIN,
of Mercer County

The Circuit Court has decided that the old Stanford Male and Female College belongs to the Public Schools of the county. The County High School is thus provided a home, and the Graded School saved the necessity of erecting additional buildings, which otherwise would have been necessary.

We have one of the best schools in the State, one of the handsomest Courthouses in Kentucky. Stanford has outgrown the primitive period when all that was needed was a single street stretched out parallel to the creek that the women might be close to wash water. We now need more streets, first that we may have ready means of access to schools, churches, places of business and in the second place there is a present demand for building sites, and new streets must be opened, for without them no such sites are available. The town can be greatly improved in the compactness of its shape, the convenience of its people and in the value of properties by the opening of two short streets which would cost the town but a song. The extension of the street from what is now the Stone property across to Danville street in front of the Alcorn property, and the opening of a street from the Daugherty blacksmith shop on Main street, along and over the line of the school property, across the railroad in front of the new Baughman warehouse and continuing to a point of intersection with the proposed extended street, would be an improvement which would shorten the distance to school for half the children in town. It would furnish easy needed means of communication with the different sections of town. It would open up some of the most desirable building lots in town. It would put mechanics, carpenters and laboring men to work. It would mean new life to the city.

Gentlemen of the City Council wake up.

Every democratic county convention in the Second Railroad District, which meets next Monday, ought to instruct its delegates to the district convention to vote against Billy Klair for the nomination for Railroad Commissioner. No worse blow could be struck the democracy of the State in the present campaign than to nominate this boisterous and saloonkeeper of Lexington for the office to which he aspires. The Georgetown News in its current issues publishes a lengthy editorial showing that Klair has been indicted 12 times for flagrant violations of the law in Lexington. Every democrat who loves his party and the people should see to it that this man is not foisted upon us next Wednesday. His nomination will certainly mean the election of another republican on the Railroad Commission from this district.

We want to elect as a Lieut. Governor a man who will not make a joke in his appointment of the Committee on Religion and Morals.—Elizabethtown News.

THE WET INTERESTS IN POLITICS.

(Elizabethtown News.)

The question of the extension of the county unit is not a matter of vital importance to the Democratic party of Kentucky. There are many anti-saloon Democrats who doubt both its wisdom and expediency, but the domination of the Democratic party by the "wet" interests in order to prevent the adoption of the county unit, is a matter of paramount concern to the party. These interests, formed by a combination of brewers, distillers and wholesale liquor dealers, believe in the rule or ruin policy. Their Democratic convictions do not extend beyond the interest of the still and hot-tub. They are in the Democratic party to control it, if they can, and failing in that, to defeat it. They are directly responsible for the defeat of the last democratic state ticket and the election of Augustus E. Wilson and his associate. They are also responsible for the election of W. O. Bradley, a Republican United States Senator by a Democratic legislature, with methods that are as harmful as those brought to light in the Lorimer investigation in Illinois.

If there is a Democratic convention to make a platform this year, they will seek to control it in every possible way, but if they fail and the County Unit is endorsed in the platform, they will put the treacherous knife into the vital of the party again and seek in every possible way to encompass its defeat. They do not abide by any party action, unless the party accepts their position on the saloon question. No "dry" candidate for either the Senate or the House of Representatives dare offer himself for office that these "wet" interests do not conspire to defeat him. If it is impossible to bring about his defeat in party action, they turn their influence to defeat him after he is nominated. They have no party convictions beyond the stillhouse and are political guerrillas fighting to the death every aspirant for office who does not bow down and accept orders from them.

At two recent meetings of the State Central Committee these interests have been much in evidence and it has been conclusively shown that the committee majority no longer represents the welfare and success of the Democratic party but is under the domination and control of the whiskey and beer interests to carry out its orders even at the expense of the party's success. They have erected their altar to Baal, consisting of a whiskey barrel and a beer keg and those who who ask office and fail to do obsequence to them are marked for slaughter.

Two years ago these people supported McCrory for United States Senator, not that they loved McCrory, but because his opponent, J. C. W. Beckham, dared to declare for the county unit. Today, because Beckham happens to be for McCrory and for no other reason, these are the people who have chiefly been behind all opposition in the party to McCrory's nomination and are now lending aid and help to Addams whom they have persuaded to believe that he has a chance to be nominated.

We are reasonably indifferent to either the defeat of the adoption of the county unit measure but we are keenly alive and deeply interested in the success of the Democratic party, which means infinitely more to the welfare and advancement of Kentucky than whether a certain number of saloons shall be put out of business or continued in business. We are confident that our position is shared by hosts of Democrats who vote either "dry" or "wet" and by some loyal Democrats engaged in the manufacture of liquor. "Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad," and the policy of the liquor and beer combine is digging its own grave and if persisted in will destroy the very interests it seeks to conserve.

For many years the Louisville and Nashville railroad occupied in Kentucky the position which the "wet" interests conspire to fill. It had control of the Democratic organization in the state when its nominations were equivalent to election. It defeated hosts of fine men who would not wear its collar. The L. & N. had both more brains and character behind it than the beer and liquor crowd but its rule became so distasteful to the party that it was thrown off and repudiated. During all this period the L. & N. had to fight at each session of the legislature many measures which struck at its very vitals. Ten years ago the L. & N. saw the mistake of this policy and withdrew from an active participation in politics and trusted to the wisdom of the people to give it a square deal. It has gotten it and the best of treatment and perfect fairness since it has adopted this policy. What was a wise course for the L. & N. to pursue, and the only course which saved it from unfair and hostile legislation, we commend to the "wet" interests before it is too late. If the people are trusted to deal fairly and justly with any interest, history has demonstrated that the trust has never been misplaced. If the great Democratic party would not submit to the dictation to this greatest organization, with more brains and character behind it than any in the State, we can be very sure that it will not tolerate the hydra-head of bossism that has been raised by the combined liquor interests. They may succeed in defeating the Democratic party if it refuses to do its bidding but it will be the Samson act and they will be forever buried under the defeat that they bring about. There are tens of thousands of Democrats, who are now honestly opposed to the extension of the County Unit, who will not submit to the domination of the Democratic party by the brewers and distillers. No interest is big enough to control the Democratic party and any interest which attempts it marks its own ruin, and courts its own destruction.

Free for Stomach and Bowels

We are in receipt of letters from Mrs. Eva Gaskins, 304 Madison St., Topeka, Kans., and Mr. P. H. Gavelas, Wagoner, Okla., as well as many others, telling about the wonderful results they have secured in the cure of their stomach and liver troubles by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

This remedy, as all readers doubtless know, has been before the public for a generation and is now being used extensively used than any other remedy for stomach, liver and bowel complaints. According to reliable testimony, it seems to be a very quick and lasting cure for constipation, indigestion and dyspepsia, liver trouble, biliousness, headache, neuralgia, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar disorders. It is a liquid with tonic effect, and is mild and gentle in action that a child as well as a grown person can take it. In fact, it has no equal for children, women and old people.

It arouses the flow of gastric juice, and by a peculiar action trains the stomach and bowel muscles to again do their work naturally, and in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with. A free sample bottle can be had for trial by sending your address to the doctor, for in this way Mrs. Gaskins, Mr. Gavelas and many others first learned of the cure. Later, when satisfied it is the remedy you need, do otherwise as they can buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 62 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

VALENTINE, WARDEN HANDLER AND ROSE LANE.

Valentine and Avery laughed in their superior knowledge.

"No, no," protested Valentine, "this photograph proves I was at a banquet in St. Paul. I'll beat Doyle and I'll make him like it."

"You can't," was Avery's pessimistic comment.

"You said we couldn't go square, any of us, and we all have," was Valentine's rejoinder. "And if we can beat the thing inside of us that calls we can beat one man that hunts."

A clerk knocked at the door and entered to ascertain if he should now bring in a trayful of cash which Valentine was to count. He was ordered to do so at once, and Avery's face became a study as the young man soon re-entered with a tray on which new banknotes of large denominations were piled among glistening rows of gold coin.

"Great snakes, what a chance!" exclaimed the one time thief, looking from Valentine to the watchman. "This is no place for me. Oh, just for one grab and the quick getaway!" He mopped his wrinkled brow. "I'm sweating like a polar bear on the Fourth of July."

"Haven't got it out of your blood yet, eh?" asked Valentine.

"Not the craving for real money. I learned to let the wheat in the grain elevator alone after a month or two, but coarse money like that—wow!" The old man stared fascinated at the enticing tray.

"Well, we watched each other for awhile," commented Red, pointing to his chief.

"And ain't neither of you ever snatched even one bundle?" asked Avery incredulously.

"No."

"Well, you better get me out of here. I'm going to have lockjaw in both hands in a minute." He reached for his hat and stick.

"No, you're not," put in Valentine.

"Come on, Red," he said, walking to the vault room door. "I'm going to prove to Bill that he's honest. He's going to watch that money till we come back."

Avery cried out in protest, but Red followed his superior, and the time worn thief, who had confessed to his friends the weakness that he well knew yet lurked within him, was left alone in the banking office before a tray containing $63,000 in cash. With reach was the door leading into the open hallway through which it was but a few seconds' dash to the busy street, where a man would immediately be lost to view in the passing throng.

"It's a dirty trick," muttered the old man, starting after the others. A shaft of yellow light reflected from one of the golden coins caught his eye, drove into his very brain, into the thin red blood that coursed through his hardening veins. He stopped. He turned full around and slowly, with hands eagerly outstretched, tiptoed back to the table bearing the precious burden. His brows narrowed down over his pale gray eyes, his fingers, long talons in their curved fixedness, began to nervously twitch. Then Avery jerked himself away of a sudden. He straightened himself up and started toward the vault room door to summon Valentine. But even as he did so his glance roved back to the alluring tray. He was drawn to it as the nervous rabbit that succumbs to the insidious charm of the oscillating head of the hungry python.

He stepped to the tray. He seized two packages of hundred dollar bills, thrust them into his pockets, then clutched two more. The fever had him. His eyes shone with the fire of gone days and gone nights. His poisoned blood sang through his veins. Then he stopped once more. He raised his head.

"And have the coppers after me again," he murmured thoughtfully. He laid down a package. "And 'double cross' a pal that put me straight. Not me, not me!" He replaced the remainder of the money. "And coin that comes crooked never was any good."

Avery stood before the tray of money. Now he looked at the tempting fortune with the sure knowledge that he had conquered—that he had faced his greatest test and had not been found wanting.

The thought of how narrowly he had escaped committing the meanest crime of his career came over him, and he realized that he had been on the verge of plunging himself into the death dealing life from which Valentine had rescued him. Ungovernable rage possessed him at his insane lapse into the self that he had cast from him. He swung his fist at the neatly stacked piles of gold pieces.

"Curse you, curse you!" he cried in frenzy. The tray and its contents crashed to the floor and the money scattered in all directions.

Valentine and Red, hearing the noise, came rushing in from the vault room. They saw the floor littered with banknotes and coins. And crouching forlornly in a chair was the figure of old Bill Avery. His hands were pressed over his eyes, and he sobbed in the agony that gripped the soul which had been restored to him.

CHAPTER XIII.

"TOOK—some of—that money," Avery finally managed to say as he saw his two friends before him.

"And you put it back," smiled Valentine. "The minute you touched it you found you couldn't."

"That's it," put in Avery eagerly as he arose and proceeded to aid Red in restoring the scattered money to its place. "I couldn't take it then. Now I can go out of here and know that I'll never steal again."

"You mustn't go until Doyle comes in, for he might see you on the street," warned Valentine. "When he comes you can go out through the vault room and make your getaway while I stall him here."

In talking with Avery, Jimmy Valentine unconsciously fell into the use of the vernacular of his early vocation.

With a parting handshake Avery went out into the vault room, where Red was to exhibit to him the big new safe. The assistant cashier, now that the tray of money had been replaced on the table, picked up the photograph, hung it in the place of another affixed to the wall at the right of his desk and inspected it with pronounced satisfaction.

The hall door opened, and Rose Lane came into the office. The girl was in a peculiar mood that day—there was no denying it. Valentine had always found his benefactor, young though she was, particularly difficult to fathom, and today she was more baffling than ever. She talked at length regarding her plans for the children's Christmas celebration, and, standing before his desk, while he stood behind it, she said, "And I want to know what you want for Christmas?"

"Is there anything I could want?" he answered in low tones. "Think of what you and two short years have done for me."

"And there's never anything more you want? Don't you ever dream—dreams of, say, two years more?" She turned her eyes to the floor.

"Oh, yes, to go on as I've been going these last two, since your father gave me a position of trust, and make everything good and pile up the money for you."

She drew away from him.

"Haven't you ever thought there might be something I want more than money?"

Valentine hesitated. His voice became intensely serious.

"I don't let myself think of you only as your employee," he finally answered.

Rose turned sideways to him, so that he could not see her face as she delivered her next question, although she would have given much to have been able to watch the expression of the assistant cashier—her assistant cashier—as she asked it.

"But," she ventured, "you must have thought that I would marry some day."

Silence, with Valentine fumbling in embarrassment a pencil which lay upon his desk.

"Yes—I"—he began, but Rose continued his sentence for him.

"And it hurts you to think of it, doesn't it? Say it."

"Yes."

He could endure the situation no longer. The girl had penetrated his very soul with her questions, had uncovered in Jimmy Valentine the secrets of his new life—the secrets which he had resolved to keep buried forever. But now he must speak. He must tell her the truth about his situation as regarded her—part of the truth, at least.

"And the thought of you brings darkness, desolation," he said, keeping a firm grip on the emotions that threatened to unnerve him. "What is the use? You're all there is to live for—to just see you now and then. You're all there is to life. Men have loved and slaves have loved and animals that have been saved have loved, but never were the three loves fused in one. And you're good, and your life is clean, while mine—but you know all that." He inclined his face from her.

"I have forgotten," she said simply. "You cannot. And any day the shadow of other days may fall. But I want you to know this and believe it as your God—my love for you is a holy thing, sacred and deathless." Valentine was looking earnestly into her eyes now. His hand was resting on the desk. She seized it in hers and drew him toward her.

"Take me in your arms, Lee," she cried fervently. "I love you. I'll love you till"—Her face was upraised to his as she clung to him. He held her

HE KISSED HER AGAIN AND AGAIN.

In his arms and kissed her again and again. "How I have longed for you—years—years"—Her words were smothered in his kisses.

"There is no end to the happiness you bring," murmured Valentine at the first moment he thought he could spare his lips for conversational purposes.

"Oh," exclaimed Rose, drawing away at arm's length temporarily. "I want to tell you something, Lee. something I've known for years and years—we are going to marry."

He caught her into his arms once more.

"I love you. It will never end," he whispered fondly.

The telephone bell rang at his desk. As he released her and placed the receiver at his ear she encircled his neck in her arms and kissed him. "Hello!" he called. As the response came she felt a tremor run through him. Haggardness came into his eyes. He seemed almost to forget her presence.

"Yes, yes," he answered. "I'll see the gentleman in a few minutes."

He hung up the receiver. "God," he groaned, "Doyle!"

Valentine turned toward the girl, who surveyed him anxiously. "What is it?" she asked. She saw that he was deeply worried.

"I don't know," he stammered, "but it is most important—most important."

"Well, I'll run downtown; the car is waiting," she said happily. "Then I'll come back and get you and dad and take you home."

His face had taken on the pallor that marked the visages of men who came from Warden Handler's game of solitaire.

"Yes, but should this man have business which would take me out of town?"

"But you mustn't go out of town—now hear me." She, of course, had not the slightest suspicion of the true importance of that telephone call.

"I won't if there's a way out."

"Well, just don't—just don't," pleaded Rose. "I am going to leave the children here to take care of you."

"Rose," he cried, going to her, "Rose, it was chance that brought us together; it was chance that brought you to a prison one day. Chance is uncertain, capricious, and that same chance may separate us suddenly."

The following items are from the Journal and Tribune of Knoxville, Tennessee: Mrs. Richard Caswell Sauley will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Webb, Jr., at the "Whitfield Flats." Mrs. Sauley is the bride of Ensign Sauley, of the Kansas, whose brilliant marriage in Frankfort Kentucky, was one of the notable events of the season in Southern society. Ensign Sauley has been sent among other naval officers to make an official call on the German emperor.

Miss Berta Jean Penny of Stanford is to be with her aunt, Mrs. Webb, also accompanying Mrs. Sauley to Knoxville. It will be recalled that Miss Penny has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Webb in this city upon a previous occasion and has many friends to extend her a cordial welcome upon her return visit.

One of the handsome hospitalities planned in honor of Mrs. Sauley, of Kentucky will be a dinner party to be given by Mrs. James Woldridge of Kentucky. Mrs. Sauley is a lovely society favorite, the daughter of Judge O'Roar, Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky, and during her visit in Knoxville with her sister, Mrs. Webb, will be the complimented guest at a series of lovely affairs.

The third shower of the series for Mrs. Anderson, the bride of yesterday was given at the handsome old Harris homestead on the Knob Lick pike Tuesday afternoon, by her aunt, Mrs. Annie Engleman. This was a linen shower and a perfect deluge of exquisite lingerie was poured upon this popular young girl. The house was attractively decorated with cut flowers and potted plants and ferns. Receiving with the hostess, was the bride-to-be, very charming, and Mesdames Jesse Alverson, of Frankfort and F. F. Fitzpatrick, of Mt. Sterling. Delightful refreshments, consisting of strawberry ice and cakes were served. The centerpiece of the dining table was a huge heart of pink roses with bows of tulle, extending from the four corners. A large number came to tender good wishes for complete happiness to the bride.

Mrs. J. B. Myers, of Moreland, last week celebrated her 67th birthday. She is the mother of fourteen children, all of whom, except one, were present. There are twenty-nine grand-children. Mrs. J. B. Myers, of Moreland, last week celebrated her 67th birthday. She is the mother of fourteen children, all of whom, except one, were present. There are twenty-nine grand-children. Mrs. Myers is a splendid lady and has a legion of friends who trust that she will be spared to celebrate many more anniversaries.

About twenty of Miss Jennie Peppel's friends "stormed" her at her home in the country last Saturday night. Refreshments were served and every one had a delightful time. Among those who were present, were Miss Kate Newland, Mr. Alfred Eads, Miss Loraine Campbell, Mr. Albert Phillips, Miss Mary Elizabeth McKinney, Mr. James Owsley, Miss Kate Davis Roney, Mr. Joe Hill, Miss Margaret Bibb, Mr. Ernest Peoples, Miss Lissa Hotzclaw, Mr. Wallace Singleton, Miss Kate Eads, Mr. Willie Martin, Messrs. Russell Brown, Howard Newland, Mike Penny and Elmont Eads.

James Gooch, of McKinney one of the L. J.'s oldest and most valued subscribers sends in his renewal with the note that he "can't do without it." Mr. Gooch is 86 years of age, and has been reading the L. J. for many years and it hopes he will continue to do so for many more.

The Lincoln County Medical Society will meet in Dr. J. F. Peyton's office Tuesday, June 13th at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Program: Arterio-sclerosis, Dr. E. J. Brown; Infant Feeding, Dr. W. B. O'Bannon. A full attendance of the members is urged. M. M. Phillips, Secretary.

Judge L. W. Bethurum, of Rockcastle, has made formal announcement of his candidacy for the republican nomination for Auditor. He will go into the convention with the strength of the Mountains behind him and being the only candidate from the Eighth District, will undoubtedly run mighty well. Lincoln will be strong for him.

At the gospel meetings, which began next Thursday, evening at 7:30 p. m., at the Methodist Church in which Rev. Andrew Johnson, evangelist, of Wilmore, Ky., is to do the preaching, Rev. H. O. Callis, will conduct the singing. This part of the service usually so much appreciated will be made permanent. Song and Prayer services evening at 7:30 p. m., and the sermons at 8 p. m. The day services will be held at 10 a. m. The entire public are cordially invited to attend all these services, especially do we ask the prayers of all of God's people for his blessing on the meeting.

Fraternally,
J. J. Dickey.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

Rev. J. J. Dickey will preach at Mt. Xenia, Sunday afternoon at half past three o'clock.

Hon. Fontaine Fox, Bobbitt will speak in the court house, Monday, 12th of June, at 1:30 o'clock. He says he will make a speech on high taxes, approaching confiscation, tariff (the ladies) should convert the roads, innovation, bad laws, gradience into a fragrant flower garden.

ed schools, school books, automobiles and will breathe a mournful requiem over the grave of the departed blue back spelling book, which Judge Morrow says is the finest book of its size that was ever published. He will also speak at Richmond, the 4th Monday in June. He says he would not object if the flowers of nature (the ladies) should convert the roads, innovation, bad laws, gradience into a fragrant flower garden.

MONUMENTS

OUR DUTY to our departed ones is plain. We should erect an appropriate MEMORIAL over their final resting place.

A monument is not expensive unless you care to have it so.

Our work is unsurpassed and considering quality, is very cheap. We have a large stock to select from.

OUR KIND OF FOLKS.

We want to show the outside world in these lines the kind of people we have in Calloway county out in the country. Mr. John Fair, South of town, has been quite ill for sometime and unable to look after his farm. One day last week notice was given in that neighborhood that those who cared to could gather at Mr.
Fair's farm and help sow his oats and break his tobacco land. Early on the morning appointed, twenty-eight double teams entered Mr. Fair's fields and began work. Within two hours the oats were in the ground and the tobacco land was broken.

The teams and implements engaged in the work represented an investment of over $10,000, besides the eighteen wagons that hauled the plows from distant farms. It was a magnificent sight to see fifty six horses, one team behind the other, throwing dirt, and we regret that a picture was not taken of the scene to print in the Gazette.

That's the kind of folks we have all over Calloway county. Let a man get sick and factions cut no ice. His neighbors warm up, to him, be he Ke-site or Holander, Demopp or Republican.

That's the spirit for which the Gazette stands. Those who stand for any other are enemies to society and stumbling blocks in the way of peace, prosperity, charity, fraternity and good fellowship.—Murray Gazette.

YOUR NEIGHBOR'S EXPERIENCE

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, 360 Willow St., Akron, O., says:
"For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches.
I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable.
I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions, and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eye-sight became clear and to-day I can say I am a well woman, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills."

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. ROOT.

A copy of the paper published at the school for the Deaf at Sulphur, Oklahoma, in which Miss Etta Belle Root teaches, has just been received here. It contains the following beautiful mention of the death of Mrs. A.
D. Root:

The whole school family was pained to hear Thursday evening of the death of the mother of Miss Etta Root, one of our most worthy teachers, which occurred Wednesday, in Roosevelt, Okla. Miss Root was endowed with a beautiful life. Just a few months since, Mrs. Root spent several weeks here, and we all soon came to admire her simple earnest Christian life. Every heart is full of sympathy for the sorrowing relatives, but especially for the devoted daughter, whose life so clearly reflects the influence of the departed mother.

BROUGHTONTOWN

Mrs. Etta Blanton, died May 30, after a long illness of consumption.
She is survived by six small children, her husband having died a year ago. Her burial occurred at Bethel church.

James Blankenship is in the State of Washington. His family will go at once to join him and make their future home there. Arthur Blankenship has bought a farm and will stay in Kentucky.

William H. Griffin has moved so often that when a wagon comes his chicken all jump in a lot.

There have been several farms sold in this neighborhood recently at good prices.

Perry Brown killed a large rattlesnake four feet long.

There is a fine prospect for blackberries here.

D. F. Tittle is still making boards.
He has made 12,000.

We are needing rain very badly
here on the knolls.

This is the healthiest part of Lincoln county, and land is cheaper than anywhere else in the county.
This is the promised land.
